Class History

And then we were sophomores! We had at last arrived at Tri-City to begin three of the most fruitful years of our young lives. At first we stood back and watched with wonder and meekness the busy, full lives of the upperclassmen. The size of the building perplexed us — never had we seen such long halls, so many doors! Gradually, though, we began to fit in with this new routine. We regained some of our confidence and began to put on a bold front. Led by Buck Meeks, our president, the sophomore class witnessed and joined in many exciting events, especially our most successful dance and the triumphant entry of our basketball team in the state championship. We entered into the mysteries of Algebra II; we dissected the frog to see what made it tick; we began to diagram sentences, to quote from Julius Caesar; we covered the history of the world.

In the fall of '54 the class of '56 returned to school, a more mature and developed group. This time we were in the middle — not so lordly as the seniors nor so lowly as the sophomores. Early in the year we launched our magazine sale. From door to door, from street to street, we went, selling all magazines. Our weary feet trudged many a mile, and our sales line took on a magic smoothness as we persuaded the lady of the house to buy one more. And then in the spring we proudly displayed our significant class rings. Our fingers were heavy with beauty! Many a ring changed fingers — some many times as our loves changed. Under the leadership of Ronnie Rippy, Jim Smith, Louise Luther, and Carol MacIsaac, various committees, and our co-advisors, Mrs. Ivie and Mrs. Yount, we entertained the seniors at a "Holiday in Spain" banquet and dance. Always we shall hold dear the memories of the planning and work we put forth for its success. The class of '55 selected representative juniors as marshals. The history classes "bussed" over to the Guilford Battleground for a day's tour. A year not to be forgotten — perhaps the best of all.

As the fall of 1955 rolled around, we approached school with an air of do or die. Most of us now had in mind one desire — to win a diploma. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Ferguson, we elected our officers — Otto Funderburk, Shirley Griffin, Louise Luther, Carol MacIsaac, and Gladys Tucker. Early in the fall we chose our colors, our flower, and our motto. Climaxing the most wonderful year in our high school career, we approached our graduation night with awe and wonder. From here, we will go our chosen way without the helpful arm of our teachers and friends to lean on. From here, we must stand upright and make our own way. Once again we were sophomores — sophomores in the school of life.

Last Will and Testament

The school year is about to end; and we, the Tricinoca staff, feel that certain things should be taken care of to finish out our years in high school. We hope that these little tokens that we leave to the Juniors and Sophomores will serve to remind you of our class in years to come.

We, the staff, do hereby give our strongest thanks and gratitude to our advisor, Mrs. Klyce Chandler, for her untiring efforts and encouraging smiles during the preparation of this annual.

To the Junior Class we leave the headaches and aspirins which we have met on the road to the completion of this annual.

To our friends and fellow classmates we bequeath the following possessions:

Ronnie Rippy leaves his position as president of the Student Council to Pete Smart, along with his best wishes for a successful year.

Anita Liles bequeaths her ability to twirl five batons to the other majorettes.

Ralph Brooks leaves his "nouns" to whoever will take them off his hands. Just don't take Peggy, too!

Toni Flanagan, Sarita Gillie, Mac Robertson, and Jimmy Ritchie leave the chemistry lab in one piece — surprisingly.

Buddy Overby leaves his clean bus to a capable junior.

Patsy Geer leaves, she hopes.

Bettie McBride and Jimmy Smith, Becky McCulloch and Jimmy Wall leave their hall romances to Nancy Campbell and Jimmy Duggins, Barbara Hopper and Sammy Gammons.

Ronald Meeks leaves his quiet ways to Buddy Bowers.

Jo Wright, Irene Crowder, Lera Williams, Pricie Weeks, Hazey Joyce, and Nancy Fulton leave to join their husbands at last!

Billie Edwards wills her smile and jolly disposition to Myra Meeks.

Judy DeHart and Colleen Pratt leave their driving ability to two other menaces to society.

Judy Powell bequeaths her loyalty to one boy all through high school years to Margaret Sutliff.

Alice Lee wills her industriousness to anyone willing to study hard.

Joe Mitchell leaves his chewing gum to Neil Hailey. May you never be without it.

Frank Woody bequeaths to Joe Scales his booming voice in the halls.

Steve Koontz leaves his Junior-Senior band to another Ricky Ricardo.

Delores Jones and Joan Heffinger will their ability to get engagement rings in their Christmas stockings to all the junior girls who want one.

Pete Griggs leaves his magic football uniform to Pete Smart.

The Senior Black Panthers bequeath to all the Junior and Sophomore Panthers their best wishes for a successful football and basketball season.

Nancy Jones and David Peterson leave their chemistry grades to Ann McCollum and Mike Hough.

Eloise Walker leaves — but not without Ronnie.

Gordon Murphy leaves his shy ways to Ronny Hailey.

Aldra Bouldin bequeaths to Nancy Forbes her friendliness to her classmates.

Wayne Light and John Light leave their ability to be first cousins to two more like them.

Carol MacIsaac and Joe Law leave the hard work of being editors of an annual to anybody able to stand up under the strain.

Pat Sharpe leaves her peaches and cream complexion to any lucky girl who needs it.

Charles Lasley leaves the making of ammonia to someone who will strap himself to the stool.

Lynn Phillips leaves Glenda to all the wolves at Tri-City with the hope that she'll be true to him.

David Butler leaves his nickname "Rooster" to anyone able to fill his shoes (and clothes).

Martha Hale leaves her quietness to Shirley Denny.

Leesona Hamrick leaves her willingness to scrap for the basketball to Madeline Fabian.

Jean Ford leaves her laugh to all the girls to be divided among them.

Jane Smith leaves her odd shoes and cashmere sweaters to Joan Carpenter.

Ronny Washburn leaves his good looks and jumping eyebrows to William Reese.

Tommy Webster leaves his little Junior girl to whatever fate she may meet, hoping that her Dalmatian dog will protect her.

Billy Caudle leaves his height and red hair to Thomas Stanley.
 Herbert Young bequeaths to Bobby Setliff his manly build and his desire to go to college.
 Jeannie Matthews and Ann Navey leave Ham and Chuck very regretfully.
 Susan Stevens leaves for Michigan, knowing she's leaving somebody behind who wants to go very much.
 Frankie May leaves with Sarita.
 Larry Gilbert wills to Mike Flanagan his "shyness" around girls.
 Donna Archibald leaves her dimples to whoever wants them.
 Yvonne Boaz leaves her wit to Peggy Dalton.
 Reva Agee bequeaths to Alma Dean Stack her "unforgettability."
 Jackie Allen leaves her bouts with the sewing machine to anyone able to handle it.
 Sarah Stanford wills her ability to collect money from F.T.A. members to somebody stronger than she.
 Toni Flanagan leaves her "craze" for Spanish to Senorita Lucio Reynoldio.
 Joe DeHart leaves his love for fast autos to a cat with nine lives.
 Jimmy Wall wills his false tooth to a toothless boy.
 Mary Frances Price leaves her dependability to all the Juniors.
 Carole Hylton leaves her common and book sense to Alma Dean Stack.
 Tony Shaffer leaves, and he's glad.
 Paul London leaves his ability to sing to John Lowther.
 Thomas Lynch leaves his ability to drive a bus, tractor, car, motor scooter, bicycle, tricycle, and wagon to Paul Farmer.
 Calvin Shorter wills his cute blushes to C. G. Hall, even though he knows he will never use them.
 Jim McGavish leaves his place in the National Guard to just anybody.
 Betty Humphrey leaves a Ford Thunderbird to the school for drivers' training.
 Barbara Cockran leaves to Sybil Ellis her good looks.
 Gail Tranbarger wills to Faye Pratt her long hair.
 There are many other things that we would like to leave, but time will take care of those. As a last legacy, we leave our best wishes and sincerest hope for the success of those who follow.

Class Prophecy

The members of the annual staff of the Tricinoca, besides being far more intelligent and cultured than the usual Tri-City savage, are each, and severally, clairvoyant. Being possessed of such psychic powers as enable us to see into the future, it now behooves us to impart our knowledge thereof. Our immediate concern is the graduating class of Tri-City of 1956.

Not all of those who failed chemistry are seeing life as second-class ditch diggers, as Mr. Morgan found. Neither have the geometry students disgraced State with their ignorance, as Mrs. Dininny thought. The physics students are well and happy despite their ignorance. The worst is Ralph Brooks who hasn't been the same since a tractor he was trying to operate turned over on him eight years ago. Since then, he has been working for Gaylord French, Jr., who takes in unfortunates and derelicts and gives them work on his 5,000 acre farm. The fresh air and exercise has helped Billy Kemp enormously also.

We point with pride to Jim LaMar, Larry Murphy, and Otto Funderburk, who are facing life as engineers. Tim Cashatt, also an engineer, was recently heard complaining because he couldn't live on $50,000 a year. Frank Woody, in electronics, told him that $80,000 meant a bigger headache, a bigger tax cut, and the best things in life are free.

Some of the more industrious girls got married. Medre Adkins says fifteen is the perfect number of children. Geneva Brammer makes clothes for her three lovely, blond daughters. Donna Archibald was elected mother of the year. Leeson Hamrick, Vuanner Pleasant, and Christine Spence have sons the same age, who are always fighting. The mothers haven't spoken to each other for a year. Shirley Kirkman is changing her troubles. She's married to a man six feet tall. Reva Agee married an eccentric movie star, and Carolyn Wilson married his cousin who is also eccentric — he doesn't let her out of their house. Annie Wray is president of her P.T.A. and has made a life-time enemy of Ethel Jones because Ethel's little boy wasn't in the Christmas play. Carol MacIsaac and Shirley Thomas married ambassadors, and are seeing the world, of which there isn't much left, because a mad Russian destroyed his half in 1965. Yvonne Wilson was Miss North Carolina fifteen years ago, and gave up a screen career for a research chemist.

Susan Stephens and Sammy Robertson discovered a formula for synthetic eggs one day in the chemistry lab. They made a fortune and retired. Jimmie Ritchie fell down the freight elevator of the Waldorf last Thursday, rushing to welcome a foreign diplomat, and he's trying to sue Lynn Phillips for bad management. Feeling that Mr. Ritchie has been wronged, Tony Shaffer bought the Waldorf and moved the freight elevator.

Gene Hall and Melvin Morgan are loafing in New York, visiting Buddy Overby, who is understudying for Jackie Gleason.

Frankie May, by being charming and gallant to directors' wives, is Vice-President of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

David Peterson is proving theorems another way at State College.

Sherman DeHart made a fortune on the Kentucky Derby one year and retired to Florida. Jimmy Grogan drowned in his bathtub at the age of 88 — a great loss. Jim McGavish was injured by a run-away horse. He had to give up work, which seems to agree with him.

Jacqueline Allen writes poetry which Random House publishes. Yvonne Boaz is a kindergarten teacher. Judy DeHart is a veterinarian's nurse. Jo Hubbard is a millionaire's wife. Frances Light went to Alaska with her husband in the Air Force. Anita Liles and Bettie McBride teach school here in North Carolina. Pat Sharpe has been a Powers model for 20 years.

Joe Mitchell went insane trying to drown his goldfish. Calvin Shorter lives in the Rocky Mountains and traps fur-bearing animals. Joe Hopkins committed suicide to find out what heaven is like. Bruce Woll conducted services for him. Conducting funeral services is Bruce's sole means of support, because his services are so beautiful.

Guess what happened to Gladys Tucker. She's the sole inspiration of a brilliant composer for piano. Aldra Bouldin works in an asylum for the insane because it gives her a chance to be near so many of her old friends. Jeanie Matthews, for one, had a breakdown after her divorce from her fourth husband. Billie Jean Edwards lost her mind trying to devise a new method of shorthand.

Mary Frances Price is a dentist's wife and actually enjoys her husband's profession. Jean Ford broke six engagements and finally married a high school football coach. Toni Flanagan is wandering around Europe, collecting $1,800 a week in alimony from her ex. Gloria Thomasson is one of the stenographers who really married the boss.

Junior Cassell is a chauffeur for one of the Rockefellers. Billy Caudle is a driving teacher. Jerry Dunn is the manager of an orphanage; Norman Farmer is the skipper of a commercial cruiser ship in Florida. Steve Koontz has the old Dorsey brothers band which he took over when they retired. John Light is bat boy for the Yankees. Wayne Light has been trying to get into the movies for the last 20 years.

Gerald Peterson is head of the Civil Defense Department for the state. Jack Rierson is a farmer, and Joe Sanders is a big game hunter. Bobby Rodgers is famous for having killed the most squirrels with one shot. Kerwin Smith made a fortune selling a special type guitar he invented. Kenneth Denny joined the circus as a clown. Larry Gilbert is a test pilot for the Air Force. Jimmy Hopper paints hand-painted ties and is becoming famous for it. Charles Lasley is a ballet dancer. Joe Law is a policeman. Bradley Young is overworked as a taxi driver in Miami. Kenneth Squires left these parts after a bank robbery in Charlotte and bought a cattle ranch in Texas.

Paul London earns a fair living doing bit parts in movies about the Middle Ages. Melvin Evans is in the movies, too. He wears a mustache and plays the villain in westerns.

Ronald Fagge drives racing cars. Norman Cochran is a zoo-keeper. Richard Foster is an architect who builds round houses, and long, low churches.

Thomas Lynch left the major baseball leagues seven years ago, and earns a living endorsing products. Lawrence Worsham made a fortune and retired to Italy. Leon Slaughter lives a carefree life fishing and hunting around the hills of Spray. Pete Griggs is still a college sophomore, but he'll have to graduate soon because he's getting too old to play football. Herman Hopkins is a straight man for Milton Berle. No one has heard from Buck Meeks; he disappeared in Chicago five years ago, but he sends home about $1,000 a week.

Jerry Hall is being a perfect father for six children. He doesn't make them go to school.

Ronnie Rippy was stranded on an island in the Pacific. Rumor has it that he wants to stay there. Jimmy Wall wrote the great American novel and is now writing the second great American novel. Herbert Young gave up football because it seemed to be ruining his looks. Jackie Wright and Gordon Murphy joined the Air Force because they thought the uniforms flattered them.

Some of the crowd still live in the Tri-Cities. Ronnie Woodall had such memories of the place that he just stayed on and on. Thurman Shockley felt sentimentally attached to Spray, and he stayed on. Ronnie Washburn never exhausted the supply of local girls, so he didn't have any initiative to leave. Tommy Webster hung around for about ten years after graduating, and finally left and went to Colorado. Ernest Roach finally left too, and in a fit of inspiration designed a postage stamp picturing the Statue of Liberty.

Bobbie Meeks wrote an algebra book which was adopted by the state because it was a masterpiece of confusion.

Mac Robertson is a grave digger and Garland Stowe is a major baseball player. Donnie Thomas climbs up to the water tank in Draper every day and polishes it. Jimmy Hall and Leon Grogan tour the U. S. together with dueling exhibitions. Jimmy Hall adds to the look of the act and gets paid better. Roger Hall is an insect exterminator in Texas. Charles Hall finds that deep-sea diving agrees with him because it gives him a chance to get away from everybody. Darrell Steagall is vice-president in charge of employee-absence in a Washington manufacturing company.

Nellie Brady lives happily with her handsome husband and five children. Jean Ellington is a telephone operator. Marie Chatham is agent for a movie star. Irene Crowder has started teaching her own school because she has so many children. Joan Farmer is a guide in the United Nations building. Nancy Fulton is a guide in Yellowstone Park.

Edith Brown invented a new dry cleaning process and owns a laundry. Janice Gauldin helps her when she feels like working. Martha Hale manages her business because she knows something about it. Mary Elizabeth Clifton has a thriving business in the same block, mending clothes just returned from the laundry.

Becky McCulloch never recovered from Einstein's death; her mind is half gone. Julia Ann Buckner has been happy ever since she discovered that lemon in peroxide gave a much lovelier shade. Sarita Gillie is serving time for killing Grace Kelly, her rival for best-dressed woman in America. Betty Cockram works for the state as a model of how not to drive. Barbara Bryant is a fashion editor. Patsy Geer works for U. S. Intelligence in Russia. Nancy Bryant designs and sews new fashions in fur gloves. Barbara Cochran works for Marshall Field at being a model secretary. Shirley Griffin is now happily married and models high school fashions on the side.

Jo Ann Wright is still working for Mr. Newlin at Tri-City High because she couldn't bear to leave it. Hazel Wyatt is a college librarian. Edna Earle Harvey is the perfect model for an artist's madonna. Barbara Marshall tests new types of hairpins for a big company. Louise Luther is a missionary in Africa, trying to reform the last of the cannibals. Marie McGuire copies Grandma Moses' paintings for people who can't afford originals. Pricie Weeks joined the army. Hazel Joyce is a make-up director for Paramount. Frances Hatcher owns a colony of cats; she is making scientific experiments. Judy Overby invented a waterproof bathing suit. Nancy Jones is the first Republican Senator from the great state of North Carolina. Carol Hylton and Betty went on stage about the same time and are rivals for the academy awards every year. Joan Heffinger, Sara Pratt, and Kay Wade are famous for starting a line of fashions for the small woman. Patsy Howell is a gift counselor for a department store. Karen Hundley and Norma Snow, with the help of a rich and anonymous gentleman, have started a hospital for birds. Sarah Stanford writes campaign speeches for illiterate candidates for state offices. Katie Williams is widely known among bird watchers for having counted one more California Condor than anybody else could find. Galine Wilson went out to the western part of the state and lived in the mountains by herself. Lera Williams lives in Cuba with her husband and swims to Florida regularly. Jane Smith heads the Society for Prevention of the Use of the Name "Smith" for Purposes of Hypocritical Illustration. Ann Navey was fired from her job of filling underwater fountain pens in a glass tank because no one watched the fountain pen. Nancy Odell edits Walt Disney films. Judy Powell married a minister who moved to Oklahoma. Shelby Pulliam is an expert on Shakespeare and has written several books on him. Eloise Walker killed someone who spoke to her while she was reading and was executed by the state. Yvonne Spain invented a ladies' pocketbook that would hold everything a suitcase would. Betty Shively married Johnny, presented him with three children, and they were voted the model American family. Elaine Stewart went to Berlin to study and joined the underground. Gail Tranbarger is trying to convince the Eskimos that ice isn't the warmest material to build a house with, and Barbara Carter is a social worker among them.

And so we find the graduating class of 1956, twenty years from now. But the twenty-first year is crowded with mystery, and we strongly suspect that the world has been destroyed by an H-bomb.

The diversified occupations program is especially designed to provide training opportunities for high school juniors and seniors. Students spend one-half day in organized employment in a chosen trade or occupation and one-half day in high school classes and earn credits toward a high school diploma. In this program business and industry cooperate with the schools by employing students on a part-time basis and by teaching them the various trades or occupations. One advantage of this type of program is that there is less danger of training more workers than can be absorbed in a given trade or occupation. This program provides the best means of developing in a boy or girl the desirable work habits and attitudes necessary to success, how to get along with people, what the employer expects of workers, and what workers expect of employers.

Diversified Occupations Club

Say it with music! Our Glee Club, under the leadership of Mr. Forrest Ray, has taken an active part in the cultural life of the school and the community. Its purpose is to stimulate an interest in vocal music and to provide an opportunity for students to study and to learn how to sing. The members practice many hours to provide appropriate music for our assemblies, for special occasions, and for civic programs. Annually the Glee Club takes an active part in one or more Union Services, and it does a concert for the Joint Carolina Council.

This year the band has been very active, and it has stimulated a great interest in music among our students.
